Trail Boss Letter:

Yetta Hey Princess Dads and Daughters, its September and its back to school time.....

Fall Campout for the Sky Territory:

Besides the Ghost March at Fall Camp next month, we will also be saying “Good-bye to the Sky Territory”. Seems like yesterday for many of us in the Sky Territory when we met for the first time with the other members of our outpost. Who can forget our first outpost meeting: voting on an outpost name – an outpost logo and bead colors for our vests. If you are in the Sky Territory, please fill out the camp registration form with your daughter’s correct spelling of her name for her Induction Ceremony plaque completing the program.

The 2012 OFFICER CORPS! :

It’s that time of year again! How about becoming an Officer for the 2012 Officer Corps!

We have several Officer Dads going out this year in the Sky Territory; there will be several openings to join us for the 2012 Officer Corps. Please think about it, if there is a position you feel strongly you would like to pursue? Talk to the current officer in that position, it is a wonderful way to learn the duties.

Save the Shoes!

It is hard to write this letter without mentioning and looking forward to the reopening of Yorktown Lanes later this month after last week’s fire. Both, Princesses & Guides have had a very long relationship with the local bowling alley. The staff and Owners of Yorktown Lanes have always accommodated us and our activities – glad to hear they are rebuilding and will reopen soon.

Like many of you, Yorktown Lanes has been a part of our Adventure Princess memories; both of my daughter’s outposts met there for the first time and we have gone every year to the annual AP Dad/Daughter Bowling Event in January. Glad it will still be around for future Princesses!

[P.S. Hopefully the rental shoes were all saved! Yorktown Lanes will never be the same without those 1950’s “red & white” rental shoes with the shoe size marked all over them. (which somehow was never the right size)? I guess shoe sizes or feet have changed in the last 50 years.]

Entertainment Books & Cookie Dough:

We will have one more go for it this year! Entertainment books & Cookie Dough sales will be available for a limited time starting at the September Frontier Meeting. A great opportunity for outposts to earn Wampum.

Fa dot and Chew! Greta, Marlena and Greg Noeth – 2011 Trail Boss

Consider Being An Officer for 2012 !!!!!

To All Princess Dads,

Please consider being an officer for 2012. Nominations Start in September and most of the positions are open for 2012, meaning that dads in good standing with the organization can run for election (or audition in the case of the Storyteller position). Even if someone else is running for a given position, if you are interested in it – run for it! Having more people running makes it more fun for everyone. Listed below are the names of each position with a brief description of what it entails. If you would like to know more, feel free to ask current or former officers about their experiences.

Elections are held at the December Frontier meeting. See Greg Noeth or Mark Ruda to nominate someone to run for a position. I hope you'll consider it!

Thanks, Greg Noeth (2011 Trail Boss)

Officer Expectations

So, you think you might like to be an officer! You might ask “what does that mean?” “What is expected of me if I were to become an officer?” In anticipation of those questions, here is a brief summary of the general expectations of any officer, regardless of the position that you might hold. (Check the Princess Member Handbook for specific detailed responsibilities for each officer position).

If you have questions, feel free to contact me or any officer to find out more. I hope you join us!

Thanks,

Greg Noeth, 2011 Trail Boss

(Excerpts from officer expectations and conduct guidelines)

- You represent the organization as an officer at all times; both at and away from Princess Events you are viewed by others as representing the group. Set the right example at all times
- You have a duty to support the organization in decisions both big and small. What is right for the program, and what is right for the kids should guide us in making the right decision. It is our duty to preserve this program that we currently enjoy, for the benefit of those that will come in later years.
- Throughout the year all officers have assigned responsibilities. Some are clearly stated in the handbook and by-laws and some are not. Regardless of where the assignment comes from – whether it is voluntary or a requirement of your elected position – we are all counting on you to meet your commitment.
- It is the responsibility of all officers to attend all Officer and Frontier meetings. Be prepared to discuss any action items that you might have. Territory Scouts should be prepared to speak of behalf of their Territories.
- There are a number of events during the year where support from the general officer group is needed in order to be successful. The Mardi Gras fundraiser, the Guides Night at the Races, and supporting the council fires at campouts are several of the main ones. Even though you might not be the specific officer assigned to coordinate the event, we will all need to pitch in to make sure things run smoothly.
- Future officers: We need your help in identifying possible candidates for future officer positions. Without good leadership going forward, the organization will eventually fail. We need to make sure that does not happen.

FIRE TERRITORY REPORT

Mighty Fireflies

Yetta Hey Princesses...The Fireflies are enjoying the last few days of summer. We had a blast doing the Fluff Raid. We are looking forward to Breakfast in the Park, and all the upcoming Fall Events. Friends Always...Fireflies Rock!!

SKY TERRITORY

Rockin' Cowgirls- all is calm in the Rockin' Cowgirl Stalls for now! We are looking forward to Breakfast in the park along with the car rally, golf outing and the Avon Overnighter I also wanted to wish a Happy Birthday to Hailey Organiscak, Hanna Prezenkowski, Chiara Ezinski, Jenna Lannelli, Arianne Clark

The Diamondbacks must be using a different calendar than most as we missed last month's reports. Sooooo, here goes...we sweated our butts off in the 4th of July Parade - thanks Mr. Bentley for manning the bullhorn - and the St. Charles Parade; after which we hung out at the Carnival and had a great time. The Boat Race was a blast once again and a tip of the sails to Delaney Bentley for coming in 2nd place in the Sky. The dunk tank was awesome and the weather was perfect. We had a pretty good showing for the Fluff Raid - great job to all the officers on a great night and thanks for waiting for us. We loved the water slide, making ice cream, the 50 yard scream and dodging water balloons that Mr. Ezinski was somehow able to throw across the front yard! We could have passed on the baby food though and all the dads apologized for feeding our girls that stuff! By the way, big shout out to Rachel Pierce for having the longest scream at the Legend Maker's house! We're going to work and play at the Breakfast in the Park and we're already starting work on our skit for the Ghost March - we're thinking of doing a haunted mess hall since that's what we know best! Rumor has it the TB sign was last spotted in Michigan and eating hot dogs in Toledo. Like the twinkle in our dad's eye, the Diamondbacks are the brightest in the SKY!!

The Northern Lights Had a great time at the mid-summer fluff raid... " Mr. Chicken anyone?" We are starting to work on our ghost march skit, and Planning our Buffalo trip with a side trip to the Maid of the Mist & Cave of the Winds. The Northern Lights are sad that our last year is almost finished.

The Sandstorm Bandits had lots of FUN at the Boat Race. The big hit was the dunk tank. Putt Putt was a blast and the end slinging water balloons was fun. The Fluff Raid was Fun. We're looking forward to the Breakfast in the Park. Friends Always

Thank you, Tim and Hailey Organiscak, Sky Territory Scout

Forest Territory Scout:

Yetta Hey All,

Like to say what a busy, busy summer me and Mia had can't wait to get back and have some fun. First I like to welcome the new Sky into the program. We are looking forward to meet the new dads and daughters. For the Forest territory - let's make this a fun full exciting memorable year for us cause this is our last year so let's be at most of the events and to make this the best year possible. Our Car Rally is coming up so let's go and meet the new sky and welcome them into the program. As for me and Mia we are looking forward to another great year. Also welcome back to school girls hope you all do well this year.

Chippequois July Report:

The Chippequois had a fun July with all the various events. We worked registration and helped at other various events at the Boat Race, which was busy, but fun. The dunk tank was a great way for dads and girls to cool down. The Putt Putt at Buzzard's Cover was also fun. The water balloon shoot was a welcome chance to cool down on the hot day. Mike Cooper also provided a alternate target for the girls, but it turned out to be a bit painful for him! A boo-boo patch would be in order! We're looking forward to the North Royalton Home Day's parade & Breakfast in the Park

Tigerlillies Report:

The Tigerlillies are having a blast this summer and all are ready for the breakfast in the park. Also we are in the midst of planning our Ghost March Skit and preparing for our campout we are hoping to make this year a good one and looking forward for more events to come see you all later

SUN TERRITORY REPORT:

The Mighty RedHawks had lots of FUN at the Boat Race. The big hit was the dunk tank. Putt Putt was a blast and the end slinging water balloons was fun. The RedHawks got together @ Laser Tag in Middleburg Heights on a Saturday morning. The Princesses, siblings & dads battled it out for a couple of games. We're looking forward to the Breakfast in the Park and getting ready for our Ghost March skit. Friends Always

The Chey-Fli Express had great time the Boat Race. Great job by all the girls and their boat making skills. Thanks for allowing the girls to get into the dunk tank. Even though it was hot, everyone had fun at putt putt. Looking forward to the upcoming breakfast in the park.

The Sun Angels had another great time at the boat race and the dunk tank. The balloon launch was great as usual. Putt putt was fun as well, and shooting of the water balloons was great fun (thanks Tim O). Looking forward to the breakfast in the park coming up.

The Mighty Powhatan's greatly enjoyed the Boat Race and the cool looking Princess boats. Putt Putt was fun for all that came out and sank hole in ones and eat some awesome ice cream. I saw an improvement from last year to this year and how well the girls shoot the balloons. Everyone had fun at the parade. The Powhatans are looking forward to helping out at the Breakfast in the Park coming up at the end of August. Friends always.

Storyteller's Report

Why The Mouse Is So Silky

One day, on his wanderings in the land of the Swampy Cree, Wesukechak, known as Bitter Spirit, saw a big, round stone lying beside the rocky path. Because Bitter Spirit could talk and understand the language of nature, he always spoke to the birds and beasts and many other things. Now he spoke to the stone. 'Can you run fast?' he asked.

'Oh, yes,' answered the stone. 'Once I get started, I can run very fast.'

'Good!' Bitter Spirit cried. "Then you must race me.'

'I will,' answered the stone, 'if you can push me to where I can start.'

With great difficulty, the maker of magic did so, and without waiting, the stone started to roll downhill, going faster and faster.

Wesukechak caught up with it almost at ground level and mocked it as he ran past. 'You are a turtle,' he laughed. 'You cannot travel fast.'

The stone was very angry but did not reply.

Bitter Spirit ran and ran until he was so tired down on his face and slept soundly. The stone with him at last and rolled up his legs and then back, where it was stopped by his shoulders. It no further. Being a big and very heavy stone, it Spirit on the ground so that he could not move. The maker of magic had awakened in pain when the stone held Bitter Spirit. The maker rolled onto his legs but he could not escape in time. 'Roll off my back, stone,' he shouted angrily. 'You are heavy; I hurt, and I cannot move.'

'You mocked me when you passed me,' said the stone, 'but you see I have caught up with you. Now that I have stopped, I cannot move until someone sets me rolling again. I must stay here.' For many, many moons, the stone rested on the back of Bitter Spirit and the maker of magic could not help himself to get free. At last, Thunder decided to send some of his bolts of lightning to smash the stone and set Bitter Spirit free.

'And so, O stone, you are punished for holding me here so long,' cried the wondermaker as he continued on his way.

His clothes had been torn and worn, so Bitter Spirit threw them into a bark lodge which he saw nearby, ordering that they be mended. They were thrown outside so quickly and had been so well repaired that Bitter Spirit cried out in surprise. 'Who are you in that lodge? Come out, so that I may see and reward you.'

The maker of magic was much surprised when he saw a lithe mouse creep out of the lodge. It was an ugly, fat, rough-haired little creature in those days, with a short, stubby nose.

Bitter Spirit picked the mouse up very gently and stroked its little blunt nose until it became pointed. 'Now you will be able to smell out your food better,' he said.

Next, he brushed and combed its rough hair with his fingers until the hairs of the little creature became soft as down and smooth as the fur of an otter. 'Now you will be able to run more easily into little holes in tree trunks when your enemies come,' Wesukechak said, and so it was.

To this day, the mouse is soft and furry and it sniffs daintily with its long nose.
